of Australia

The inaugural Launceston Table4Ten event was held on Wednesday 1st September with a number of Launceston's finest restaurants and finest guests participating.

I've received nothing but great feedback and from that I understand that each and every one of you enjoyed your evening.

Table4Ten Launceston has received great media coverage from the event, most notably a spread in the Enterprise magazine to be released this week, and also a spread to be released in the Tasmanian Life magazine in their next issue which I'm particularly excited about.

I'd like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank each and every one of you who have participated in the inaugural Launceston Table4Ten event and assist in raising much needed funds for the Prostate Cancer Foundation of Australia.

I am pleased to announce that for the inaugural Tasmanian Table4Ten events we were able to raise over $45,000 for the Prostate Cancer Foundation of Australia. So again thank you for your contribution to this cause, and I hope that you will again support our event next year.

Sponsored product Martini Rossato was enjoyed by guests at the Launceston Afterparty.

At the conclusion of our guest dinners, Metro kindly collected our guests and departed for the secret after party venue – the School of Architecture and Design Atrium at the University of Tasmania Inveresk Campus.

We're fortunate to have the creative genius of Rick Marton, director of Effective Naturally and Coyote events to theme and run the afterparty event, and it is due to Rick's creativity that the afterparty venue simply looked amazing.

Guests enjoyed Martini Rossato's finished off with a Lime zest garnish and a range of terrific auction prizes were on offer such as two tickets to the Australian Open golf tournament including lunch which was won by a lucky bidder.

Whilst I cannot speak for all guests, I am positive that a great night was had by all, and again I'd like to thank all our guests, participating restaurants, caterers and hosts as well as our local and national sponsors for supporting the Table4Ten event in 2010.

If you'd like to be involved next year, please contact me via email darren@autech.com.au to register your interest.

“Last night was brilliant, I really enjoyed myself, the guys from our Table for Ten were really good value and I'd be keen to attend again next year”
